

Glass Blowing Class

Glass Blowing Classes

Class Description:

We are offering beginning and advanced glass blowing classes. The beginning class requires no experience. It will be a hands-on experience in which students will learn the basic skills involved in forming blown glass vessels. Students will begin working with clear crystal to learn the process before going into color working techniques. The students in this class can expect to achieve the skills needed to create a small vase, bowl, or solid worked piece. This first-hand experience of working with molten glass will definitely provide a deeper understanding and appreciation of the medium. Students will also get an overview of what goes into the creation and operation of a glass blowing studio.

The advanced class requires the completion of the beginning class, or equivalent experience elsewhere. In this class, student will build on their experience in the beginning class.

Schedule:

There is currently one Thursday evening space available in the Feb. - March class series. That class will be from 6 - 9 PM Feb. 18 & 25, and March 4 & 11.
